A Salutation to Spring.

Portry.

BY M. BMMA M.

Spring is coming, Spring is coming For I see her on on her way;

See her darting, now she's starting.

On the first bright beam of day:

'Mong the still and reafless trees

Hear her singing, loudly ringing, Through the sweetly silent breeze

Spring is coming, Spring is coming,

See her lending, now she's bending

O'er the blue and purple bell.

She can paint the violet blue.

Give the rose its crimson hue

See her casting everlasting

Perfinmes as she moves along

I see it written on the sod. See her straying. now she's praying,

Offering her gifts to God.

Versailles Kv.

See she's sleeping, now she's weeping, As she lingers in the dell,

Now she breathes her last farewell.

[For the Shelby Sentinel.]

To Miss M. Emma M.

ON SEBING HER PICTURE.

Ah! let me look upon thy brow,

It is happiness to gaze

On anything so fair.

Fling back thy clustering hair;

Beneath whose sway unconscion

The heaviest care grows light.

List her sighing, Ah! she's dying,

Now she lingers, watch her fingers,

Spring is with us, Spring is with us, For I hear sweet Flora's song,

See her wreathing, softly breathing,

For I see her in the dell,

See her gliding, see her hiding

[For the Shelby Sentined.] Practical Hints on Gardening.

One of the commonest, perhaps greatest mistakes of the farmers of this county, especially that class who dig their living out of the ground upon small farms, and "patches of ground," is the little value they seem to set upon the family garden. In passing through the farming community it is common to see a few veg-etables huddled in some corner called a garden, as though the intention was to crowd that class of vegetation out of existence. It is this bad arrangement that makes gar dening appear to be unprofitable to this class of individuals. The writer therefore proposes to give a few practical hints on gardening for home use. Not as the theorist however,

Then we were caught, baby and I, both together in ty or forty years, we find the grand old forest of noble trees numbered with the things that were. Some have been destroyed in the opening of farms and fire wood; others the maining timber trees are destroye or Brown - and here it is! Next!

Opposed to a Convention.

Before the meeting of our County Democratic Executive Committee we knew there was some difference of opinion among the people as t whether a Convention or Primary Election should be ordered by the Committee:

The advocates of each view were honest in their opinions, and had we are confident, the good of the party at heart, We, with many others. favored a convention, because we believed it to be the safest and least objectionable method of selecting the Democratic nominces, especial ly in view of this particular crisis in our affairs. Our objection to a Primary Election was, and is, that it is a system entirely too loosely con ducted for the present emergency It is in fact open to the most seriou objections, objections which should suggest themselves to every sound Democrat. A Primary Election i nothing more nor less than opening the polls to the public at large without reference to politics. It has been tried in some counties and the result | ple. is that it was conducted upon the same principle that characterizes vote taken in a Railroad car, o Steamboat to ascertain the sentiments of the people upon a mooted question.

Men who do not propose to hold themselves responsible to the Democracy will vote at these Primary Elections for their friends, and as an act of friendship. The man and not the measure, is sustained. The choice of his party, because partici

ASSESSOR'S NOTICE!!

The Annual List of Assessments for the 4th district of Kentucky, having been returned to ac, by the several Assistant Assessors, notice is hereby given that appeals may be made been me, by parties interested, relative to any partoneous or excessive valuation, assessment or enumeration.

W. M. SPENCER,

Assessor Fourth District Ky LESANON, Kv., March 21, 1870.

Broom corn is becoming a very important article of commerce, and at present prices is UNITED STATES of AMERICA a very profitable crop. The following directions will be found useful to those who may wish to engage in the cultivation of broom corn:

1. It is important that the ground should be good. It ought to be as fresh as you would want for Indian corn. It should be well broken, and, if harrowed, is all the better

2. Plant the seed in the spring, (not too early,) when the ground is warm and in good condition.

Rows should be three and a half feet apart, and the seed should be drilled. One stalk of corn should be left, if too thick in the row, six inch-for four or five cutters.

bending the stalks of two rows LEAST POSSIBLE COST. diagonally across each other, about two feet from the ground. The brush projects beyond the row, and is then cut and laid on the table thus formed, to dry. The third row is then cut, and laid on the same table; by this means the "wagon row" is cut -that It affords the Security of a paid-up to wagon row to avery six is, the wagon row to every six rows. I will explain: a, b, c, d, EVERY POLICY issue I by the National Title Insurance is NON-FORFEITABLE. e, f, represent six rows; a, b, No Charge is made for Policy Fee. e, f, are table rows; c is cut Stamps, or Medical Examination. and by discut and placed upon the table of a and by discut and placed upon the table rows of e and f. It is easy to see that c and d are rows, with a table on each side convenient for loading into the wagon.

The importance and necessity of Life Insurance is now urquestioned. The only question in the mind of any run should be what Company to insure in. While there are in existence many Companies that are well conducted and have some very favorable features, it must be acknowledged that all the popular principles of Life Insurance and none of the objectionable features are to be found in the National Insurance Company.

7. Cutting.—If the brush is large, six inches of the stalk should be left to it; but the small brush much more between two larges and brush much more of the large Capital, the Low Rates, the Low Large Capital, the Low Rates, the Honorable and Fair Dealings, the Non-Forfeiting Policies, the Profect Security, the Liberal Terms of the Policies, etc., etc., Renders the National Like Insurance Company of the United States of America wor, by of the patronage of every business man. -say eight or twelve inches. Knives should be procured with good handles, and kept Threshing the seed off is the next thing. A cylinder of wood, twelve inches long Dr. JAS, LOWRY, Medical Examiner. and ten inches in diameter must be provided. It should Masonhimer & M'Fadden be of solid wood. Into this ron or steel spikes should be driven, two inches apart, with three left outside the cylinder. This is propelled by horse power; but, for very large crops I would recomend steam power. Machines are maufactured, greatly improved, for this very purpose.

9. Guring. Sheds must be provided for this purpose, so that the corn can be perfeetly kept from the sun and rain. I put my corn in racks eight inches apart, leaving abundance of space for free ventilation.

10. The yield is four hundred to one thousand pounds to the acre, the latter figure being a very large yield.

11. Bailing is done in a hay press. The brush should be laid strait, with care, and the bail may be fastened by wire hoop poles.

SICK OF THE DARKEY. - We judge from the tone of several of our Radical exchanges lately that they are getting circle of their pets, and as soon as it can be done with any decency, that they will drop them like a hot potato. The negroes are not as pliant tools as the Radicals exected, and they begin to weary of them. The Cincinnati Commercial is bitterly opposed to any more fa-voritism being shown the sable race and turns up its nose at such philanthropists as Senator Sumner and his school of politicians who, having achieved distinction by the use of the negro cannot let go of their African idol, but must continue to worship him to the end. This is ungrateful treatment and will be resented by the negroes They cannot understand that having been taken from good homes and kind masters, to be made a nation's pet, that they should be cast-aside as a child's rejected toy, so soon. The blacks are beginning to learn the truth and to realize the painful fact, that they have been deprived of peace, plenty and protection, to be the plaything of a party, and will be east aside when they are no longer useful or necessary to the party leaders. We give an extract from a recent article in the Commercial to show what cruelty is contemplated towards the lately favored race:

"The negro must be left to work out his own destiny, demonstrate out his own destiny, demonstrate his own capacity, and compete upon equal terms with the whites for the prizes which in a free society are offered to those who have the tallent, the enterprise and the energy to win them.—Ky, Gazette.

state that in the month of February last I had a severe attack of inflanatory rheumatism, which completely prostrated me. At the same time my lungs were much afflicted. I was so reduced that it was with the greatest difficulty that I could walk. I procured some of your Compound Extract of Sarsaparilia, and commenced taking it. I found that I began to improve—my cough became less severe—les soreness of my lungs and breast gradually subsided—my rheumatic pains less acute. I attribute this mainly to your Sarsaparilla. I have now been taking it for over two months; I have taken in all two bottics. Its effects have been been most satisfactory to me, and I advise others similarly afflicted to give you a trial.
